Copy a DVD movie to a folder DVD EZ Copy provides options to copy a DVD movie into your desired folder. For example, we copy the "My DVD" to "My DVD" which is in DVD's root folder. Step 1: The first thing you want to do is to ensure that the "My DVD" is inserted in your DVD drive, and then to click on the "File" icon on your computer's taskbar. Step 2: The next step is to select "My DVD" in the pop-up list, then a new window will pop up to indicate that the movie is about to be copied from your DVD drive. Step 3: At this point, you can select the items that you would like to copy from the DVD "My DVD", such as "Audio", "Subtitle" or "Video", etc. Step 4: In case of conversion, the movie won't be created, but the original "My DVD" movie will be copied into a folder. Hints: Hint 1: If you would like to copy only the Subtitle from your DVD movie, and the movie is not in the converted copy file's root folder.

The interface of the software application is plain and simple to navigate through. The 'what you see is what you get' principle applies to this app, since there are no other features besides the ones available in the main application window. All you have to do is select the source of the DVD clip - this can be either a drive, ISO item, folder, drive backup, or DVD video folder. In case of copying a DVD movie from the drive, you may select the read speed. You can also pick the destination of the new copy, between DVD drive, ISO file, or folder. The first option allows you to pick the write speed from a drop-down list. During the copying procedure, you can check out logging details (e.g. grab process start and completion time). The program runs on a moderate amount of system resources, in order to complete a task in reasonable time (depending on the DVD video's size). We have not come across any issues during our evaluation; DVD EZ Copy did not freeze, crash or pop up error dialogs. Unfortunately, the tool has not received updates for a very long time. As we have covered previously in HSA News, the first two tax conferences (with about 800 attendees each) resulted in new regulations on the 2013 tax. This year's Tax Conference was the first one where the BOE was presented with proposed rules. What to Expect Typically, new rules result in major changes to the tax system. State law requires that the BOE send out letters to each taxpayer explaining the new rules. These letters should include a notice of rights, e.g., "You may appeal if you have concerns about the application of the tax to your 09e8f5149f

(Photo by Amy Bennink) The Department of Defense's Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) can finally put its Mars hopes into action, thanks to the success of the agency's latest Moon-to-Mars mission. On Tuesday, the space agency announced it will launch a new mission to put a nuclear-powered rocket into orbit around the Moon, then send it off to a series of celestial missions, including a 3.5-day flyby of Mars. The mission is called Lunar Orbiter Enterprise (Lunar Enterprise), and it is slated to launch from Vandenberg Air Force Base, California, sometime this summer. Although this isn't the first time DARPA has attempted a "Moon-to-Mars" mission
