KeyMacro can be described as an SMS alert and notification service for MACINTOSH. SMS alerts are sent to your cell phone if there is a security breach in your company, a new campaign to send your email to potential clients, or if there is a new emergency situation. MACINTOSH can also be used as a general notification and alert tool if you want to know if someone left the house, if there was an accident, or what the weather is like. Simply add an SMS alert or a desktop alert for your MACINTOSH and KeyMacro will alert you when something happens. It can even be used as a MACINTOSH intrusion detection system. IMPORTANT NOTES KeyMacro is a FREE PC application that will operate on Windows and Mac OS X. SMS messages (and Desktop alerts) require a Windows PC running Internet Explorer 6.0 or above. Macintosh OS X Messages does not support the creation of SMS alerts. Linux users can send SMS messages and Desktop alerts using SMTP. You can use SMS messages to alert you about a new message or an error. SMS messages are sent immediately. Desktop alerts are sent to your email account. SMS messages can be sent from any internet gateway connection. Desktop alerts need to be sent from your desktop or laptop. The message is received in your mailbox as soon as the message is sent. If you send a message to KeyMacro using your cellular phone, it will be sent immediately. The information you enter about yourself, such as your email address and password, are encrypted. You can view any information you entered about yourself by clicking on the "My Account" button at the top of the program. You can easily edit your information by clicking on the "My Account" button at the top of the program. KeyMacro is supported by many Cell carriers around the world.
