The letter, dated July 11, says the Interior Department plans to collect a $1 billion reallocation charge and shut down 69 land-management, law enforcement and public works grants to the states. The Interior Department said it had received the letter but had not yet read it. One of the cities the federal government will take away from, Honolulu, and Renton, Washington, are 2 of the cities mentioned in that article. Green Party presidential candidate Cheri Honkala (right) and Bruce Hampton (left) have both raised their voices to oppose the continued, and worsened, shutdown of the federal government. Honkala said she is working closely with a group of Green Party members who are also rallying for a functioning government. Honkala is part of the Poor People's Economic Human Rights Campaign, which is a grassroots effort in Philadelphia to provide water to the city of Philadelphia and reduce the impact of poverty. The group is organized around five demands, including declaring a social emergency in Philadelphia, which will allow the city to reduce the level of poverty. Honkala hopes the Green Party will work as a coalition with other groups during the shutdown to hold out for a functioning government. Federal Government Unions
