1. Online and Offline Modes In-game content is shared by both an online component and an offline component. * Online Mode Players can choose to play in either online or offline mode. In Offline Mode, you can battle against other players in a party battle or solo against the AI. * Online Mode Players can communicate with one another via the in-game chat function. ** Characters used in the game are controlled by the computer. If you try to connect your PS3 system while using a controller, you will not be able to connect. *** The PS3 version supports the following controllers: ★ DualShock 3 Controller (Also supports other wireless controllers) * PS3 system (Only required if you have a wired controller) In Offline Mode, your PS3 system's clock time remains unchanged while you are playing. However, in online mode, a game clock will appear on your screen while you are playing. This game clock counts down the time before the next battle is scheduled to begin. This game clock counts down at the same speed for both the host and other players. *** As your activity increases, your game clock will time out more slowly. *** In battle, even when your game clock is about to time out, you will not lose a match. *** If you receive a game clock time out during a battle, your progress will not be saved. 2. Battle System In this game, the format for multiplayer matches is a one-on-one battle. There are three types of battles, defined by the degree of group involvement. • Solo Battle Your character acts on its own with no player or computer support. It is a battle of individual muscle strength and reflexes. • Party Battle Battles are held with a party of up to four players. Players share experience gained in battle, so that their characters will level up. Party members can also share in the buffs that the host has. Party members earn experience and level up based on the battle difficulty. Party members who have high experience levels will also earn more experience during battles. Party members receive experience at the rate of one experience point for five minutes of combat. • Dynamic Party Battle In a Dynamic Party Battle, any number of party members can participate in battles. The time limit for battles will begin if the host has less than three party members. The host's party members cannot turn down invitations for party battles.
