Thank you. A: Checkout Voxware HD-Ranger, it comes with a lot of vintage instruments sounds. Q: batch modifying multiple mediawiki properties I'd like to batch modify (increment) multiple properties for all pages in a certain category in a mediawiki installation. Is there any way to do this? We have to do it every time we add one more new article in the category that wants to have one new property (eg. by adding a tag to the articles which contain some text, there is a need to "cut" the title of that text, alter it to a property and add the property to the article). I was looking into shell scripts and I found that this works in a bash script, however I need to iterate over many categories. Unfortunately I can't figure out how to iterate over the categories. The command should update the urlnames of all page in some category (all pages in the category need the modified property to be displayed in the search results). In the script I'm running, I'm not sure if I should just iterate over all pages in a category (for the property of the page to be cut) or iterate over all categories. 0cc13bf012

This is a free download.Q: When to use backscroll view in Android I have some issues regarding backscrolling in Android. I have 3 activities: A,B and C. In Activity A I have a list and when user clicks on any item of list, it goes to Activity B. When i open Activity B from Activity A i create a new instance of Activity B. I know that when activity is destroyed I need to destroy it's contents. So in my case, backscroll is not displayed when going from A to B, because of creating new instance of activity.

Activity B has backscroll. When I start Activity B from Activity A, i see a black screen until list of activity B is loaded. Also, when loading Activity B from Activity A, I set some values in onPause() method and I don't want these values to be loaded by default (when loading it from Activity A). I know Activity B has to be saved, I can create a singelton object to manage this. But then I have to create all this also when I create Activity A. Is there any other way to accomplish this? A: When user clicks on any item of list, it goes to Activity B. Then the best way is to create new instance of Activity B for every single click of any item of list. This way the state of Activity B will be consistent with every click. When activity is destroyed I need to destroy it's
