Mount Blanc March has always been my favorite month, except when it rained. I miss the trees that were blooming in January. They all disappeared during the cold, wet month of February. It was a gray March day in Mont Blanc. The Furies were out in full force. I was there right behind him, standing on the faucets just beneath the flimsy sheet of water that served as the bathroom. These mountains are my sanctuary. I take a breath of air, then I’m swallowed by their arms. This was the first time I understood that the depth of a love you discover is the depth of the soul. And I loved this man. There was warmth to his touch. He caressed my hair. I felt safe. I never thought I could fall in love with anyone I wouldn’t want to kiss me. He showed me all the flowers he saw all the time. There was a black dog that I loved. He was so black his fur turned into black-brown skin. He didn’t look at me. I can’t even remember if he looked at anyone, but
