* Exercise Your Imagination: Photoshop comes with some great tutorials that let you try out some of the Photoshop tools and features. Find out how to create a starry sky or experiment with other effects and try different textures. * Exercise Your Memory: For more complex tasks, you may need to practice using the different tools and features of Photoshop. For example, creating a repeating pattern is a complex task that may take some practice. An exercise may require you to use tools such as a lasso tool, heal, clone, and others. * Clip Art: A great online resource for clip art is www.clipart.com. If the image you want is not available there, you can download a clip art package, such as this one, at www.graphic-design.tutsplus.com. * Print: The easiest way to print an image is to use the Print function. You have several options for that, which are covered in the chapter on Printing (see Figure 2-2), where you learn how to access and select the Print option on the File menu. The Print Setup dialog box shows you the basic settings you need to use for printing. * Save: The Save dialog box gives you the capability to save your images either to the local file system or to your hard drive. You use the Save feature to create a file from an image that can be sent to a friend or that can be used to create an e-mail signature. You use File → Save for this purpose. * Web: The Web function of Photoshop enables you to go online to access the resources of other websites, as you learn how to do in the chapter on creating a Web gallery. Figure 2-2 Printing an image in Photoshop.

Q: Get Related List of non-salesforce standard object type I have a custom object (customobject__c) with a master-detail relationship to a regular object (Account). I've created a scheduled class and the setup is complete: The scheduled class calls the querying class for specific Account IDs and uses the results as variables for the query... SELECT AccountId__c FROM Account WHERE Id IN :accountIds The class in question uses the SOQL command
APIGateway_ExtAPI.GetRelList and works as I'd expect if I have a standard object in the master-detail relationship. I'm not really sure what I'm doing differently here but the resultant query is erroring out on all my custom object-type relationships even though I have no problem querying the Account.Id in the same manner to retrieve a custom object's Ids as the API asks for. public class AccountListingQuery { public static List getAccountListing(String objName, Id[] accountIds) { return [SELECT AccountId__c FROM Account WHERE Id IN :accountIds]; } } Other environment: Webservice Extension API Version: 1.0 Scheduled Class: The Schedule class (triggered by a cronjob) public class Sample_Date_Selection extends ScheduledExecutorService { public static final String WEBSERVICE_URL = ""; public static void main(String[] args) throws Exception { // TODO Auto-generated method stub System.debug('1'); System.debug('2'); // System.runAs

Q: How to replace every time with and every time with I'm trying to do a simple replacement in a jquery-test case where every possible combination of with within an element such as I'm trying to replace with I'm trying to replace with I'm trying to replace with I'm trying to replace with I'm trying to replace with I'm trying to replace with To something like this for example: I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . I'm trying to replace with . How can I achieve this? I'm trying to use a regex using replaceAll() but I'm not sure how to do this. Thanks for any help! A: use preg_replace_callback function of preg_replace. $str = preg_replace_callback(/./, function($matches) { return ". $matches[1]. "; }, $str); vs. (B) $T=0.2$; (C) $T=0
