How can I set the value of the foreign key in the admin (as well as on the front-end). I am using Django 1.6 with Python 2.7. Thanks. A: You could filter the queryset to only return the objects that you want to view. You could do this via a custom admin query: `class TicketAdmin(admin.ModelAdmin): def queryset(self, request): return super(TicketAdmin, self).queryset(request).filter(ticket_type='booth')` Or by overriding the `get_queryset` method: `class TicketAdmin(admin.ModelAdmin): def get_queryset(self): return super(TicketAdmin, self).get_queryset().filter(ticket_type='booth')` For admin queries, Django attempts to cache the queryset, and you can safely assume that the queryset will be the same for subsequent requests, so you could potentially implement `get_queryset` by returning the queryset. [03/22/2018 16:24:49] " [kupo.net] - Winter, Portable Version - Latest Version -Wednesday, May 26, 2011 I was beginning to doubt that we would never find much more time to ride with a group. But then all three of us decided we'd better stick with the big group for this weekend's Giro del Trentino. Good thing. It was a three-stage race with only 45km between the finish of the first stage and the start of the second. And it was in the first week of racing. That night, Ed had an incredibly long, tiring workout, including some fancy hill repeats. He had new "thin" bar tape (thanks, Convict) 6d1f23a050
