Autodesk Fusion 360 Torrent [PORTABLE]

Thanks for sharing your side of the story. It sounds like youve been upset about the removal of STEP export for personal use for a while now and I sympathize with your frustration. Unfortunately, this is something that we have to do to help protect the work weve invested in Fusion. It hasnt gone unnoticed, and we appreciate your feedback.

Thanks for sharing your side of the story. It sounds like youve been upset about the removal of STEP export for personal use for a while now and I sympathize with your frustration. Unfortunately, this is something that we have to do to help protect the work weve invested in Fusion. It hasnt gone unnoticed, and we appreciate your feedback. Just to clarify to you, this is a personal licensing issue and has nothing to do with the business license. The results of these changes were to ban people from using fusion for personal use to resell the software to commercial customers. I think the sentiment around hobbyist software is how it should be, we definitely support hobbyist level projects, but the work that is done on those projects should remain personal to the individual. Hey all, thank you for sharing your experiences and your stories about Fusion. I definitely get how confusing this is for you. Based on everything weve heard so far, wed like to share this news with you: Im sorry, but STEP export will be removed from Fusion 360 for personal use starting on Oct. 16th, 2019. Its important to us that Fusion is only used for personal use. Weve identified a situation where commercial users were using Fusion 360 for personal use to resell software to their business. When we look at the data and its impact to the overall library of Fusion 360, we determined that removing this export functionality was necessary to maintain trust and confidence in the Fusion 360 product. You will continue to see development and investment in Fusion 360 for personal use.
