KEYMACRO enables a user to access macros files and launch them without the need of using programs such as Notepad, MS Word or other. What Is It and What Does It Do? KEYMACRO makes it possible for users to run macros without the need of opening programs like Notepad, MS Word or any other by enabling them to view and work with such scripts without having to be connected to a network. Furthermore, this program is able to save and re-load files or play back content with only a few clicks. How Is It Differ From Other Macro Programs? KEYMACRO is not similar to other programs that allow users to open files or run macros by using a 'button' or 'link'. In fact, what sets it apart from the rest is the fact that this application comes with the added bonus of 'Accessibility', 'Web development' and 'Web design', while enabling users to view and work with both macros and scripts. What Are The Advantages? KEYMACRO has a few advantages that sets it apart from other programs such as Dok, Macro Doc and others. Firstly, it allows users to view and play back files or macros without having to be connected to a network, which means that it works perfectly offline. Secondly, KEYMACRO is able to save all your macros and scripts and it can save the names of the macros so that you don't have to manually change them later on. This way, users are able to create their own macros by simply copying and pasting the content and formatting from one of the pages that you want to format. Moreover, the 'Standard' and 'Advanced' settings options give you a chance to view and work with multiple files and macros on a single window, which means that you can view and change files without having to open separate windows. Lastly, KEYMACRO enables you to preview your files and macros without having to click on the 'Save' button. What Is It Notable For? KEYMACRO enables users to run their own scripts without having to open different programs or the need to use complicated settings. In fact, with this application, you are able to view and work with multiple files, macros and scripts on a single window and change the content and formatting on any page you wish to without any problems.
