With KEYMACRO you can define sequences of keys (keystrokes) and record them. This way you can make macros which you can execute at any time without having to open the program or use the mouse. Key Macro is a program which is used to automate the repetitive tasks of the keyboard by recording sequences of keys. The option to record the sequence of keys is available by pressing a key combination during the execution of a macro. There are several features of the program: AutoPlay - displays a dialog window where you can choose the action to be performed by the sequence of keys that is set up in the Macro. To start the action, press a key combination or run a command. The options of the dialog window include: Play Selected Sequence - starts the sequence of keys that was set up in the Macro. Play All Sequences - starts all sequences of keys that was set up in the Macro. Stop Macro - stops the sequence of keys. Remaining Time Display - shows the remaining time of the sequence. Sequence Recordings - places the keys in the list of recordable sequences of keys. Keyboard Input History - displays the list of keys that you have pressed during a macro recording. Command History - lists the keystrokes that you have pressed as a command during a macro recording. Macro Recorder - automatically starts the recording of the keys that you press. Recording Settings - enables you to specify the actions that the macro recorder performs. Show Info - displays the information about the current macro. Key Macro also displays the command line that is executed as a result of the macro pressing. Simplified settings of the macro recorder include: Macro Name - assigns the name to the recording. Play Macro (Remaining Time) - enables you to choose which action to be performed by the sequence of keys that is set up in the Macro. Remaining Time Display (Seconds) - changes the size of the remaining time display that is present in the dialog window. Time Display Unit - specifies the time unit that is displayed in the remaining time display that is present in the dialog window. Play All (Remaining Time) - starts all sequences of keys that are set up in the Macro. Stop Macro (Remaining Time) - stops the sequence of keys. Remaining Time Display - shows the remaining time of the sequence. Time Display Unit - changes the time unit that is displayed in the remaining time display. 2edc1e01e8

Display the design of a portion of your web page on screen without modifying the document. DiagNose is a graphic software tool designed to work with HTML or other web page languages. It provides a visual display of the design of a portion of a page (as well as images in the page) that can be altered, and displayed in any size. DiagNose shows the design of the page as a graphic pattern on the screen. All the graphics and information can be customized. The "toolbox" is equipped with a wide range of visual and interactive functions that make it possible to edit or resize each of the elements displayed in the view. The toolbox consists of different elements like a grid, a ruler, drawing tools, line snapping, snapping to guides, measuring tools, text tools, text fonts, and a panel of icons. You can also change the background colors of the page or a portion of it. In addition, you can insert images in the page or in other document formats. You can also change the size of the page or any portion of it. Features:

- Navigation: Fast. Like turning a page in a book.
- Separation: The page is displayed as a design of graphics on the screen in full color.
- Save / Load: Saving and loading HTML files.
- Snap-to guides: You can use guides (that look like overlines) to snap the display to a specific line.
- Measure: You can measure the dimensions of the display.
- Editable: You can edit text and images.
- Annotation: You can add annotations and text to the display and change the color of the text.
- Sorting: You can view the display in multiple ways: alphabetically, by document name, name of the title, and more.
- Zooming: You can zoom in or out.
- Undo / Redo: You can undo and redo operations.
- Formulas: You can use mathematical and other formulas to combine values and formulas.
- Offset: You can offset the display or display a partial view.
- Select / Unselect: You can select any displayed element.
- Fill: You can fill the screen with any color.
- Save / Load: You can save HTML files.
- Edit image: You can open images in various formats in the image browser.
- Create New: You can create new HTML files, pages and documents.
