I have been searching for a specific solution to a problem that I had. I could not find any relevant question or post. I am currently developing a standalone server application using Java and want to know if there is a way to check if a web application is running in a specific port. For example: Input: URL url = new URL(""); Output: If the web application is running in the port 9090, it should return true. If the web application is not running in the port 9090, it should return false. I know you can use HttpURLConnection but I want to make my own test for this particular problem, so I won't need to use the HttpURLConnection class. A: In Java 8, you can try with: public static boolean isRunning(URL url) { try { URI uri = new URI(url.getProtocol(), url.getHost(), url.getPort()); HttpURLConnection connection = (HttpURLConnection) new URL(uri).openConnection(); connection.setRequestProperty("User-Agent", "Mozilla/5.0"); connection.setRequestMethod("HEAD"); connection.setRequestProperty("Pragma", "no-cache"); connection.setRequestProperty("Cache-Control", "no-cache"); if (
